PUBLISHER NOTES

MAVERICK LIST IS BACK

Duane Feisel sent the first sheet of mavericks to be published plus ground rules which are printed on page 3 of this issue and on page 1 of the Maverick Section. We are asking all METCA members to abide by Duane's ground rules when listing mavericks with him. Duane will no doubt have a lot of letter writing to do while working this project so we are also suggesting that members send SASE to Duane when asking questions about mavericks.

WHERE DO YOU BUY PERSONAL TOKENS ?

John D. Mutch, METCA 283, would like us to list in T.T.T. those firms that make personal tokens and their cost. If members knowing names and address of these firms will please let us know who and where they are, we will list them in an issue.

1972 YEAR BOOK

For those of you who have ordered the 1972 Yearbook, it will be in the mail in a week or so. They are being bound in a day or so.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

= MAVERICK "GROUND RULES" =

The attribution of maverick tokens is a challenging task, but the satisfaction is great when one can be nailed down to a specific user and location. In order that this part of the benefits from belonging to METCA can be of most use, I want to establish the rules listed below. I think they are reasonable, but they are subject to modification and change.

1. Maverick listings and attributions should be sent to: Duane H. Feisel, P.O. Box 11661, Palo Alto, CA 94306.
2. Submissions should be merchant tokens only.
3. Your submissions should be restricted to tokens which have a reasonable possibility of being attributed. Usually this means an unusual business or proprietor name, a token with both the business and proprietor name, or a token with a street address.
4. Each submission should be accompanied by a rubbing of the piece. For the most part, the items to be listed here will consist of rubbings as you can see on the following pages. A rubbing will often give clues as to the age of a token and/or the manufacturer, both important characteristics in attempting an attribution.
5. In addition to the rubbing, the inscription on the token should be listed. Be sure to look for tiny letters which are the manufacturer's "signature."
6. If you will send along a stamped addressed envelope with your submissions, I will advise you of any attributions I can make immediately.
7. When attributions of mavericks are made, please furnish the basis for the attribution, such as "directory listing", "catalogued by ...", "from another token with location", etc.

= MAKING TOKEN RUBBINGS =

The preparation of good token rubbings is not very difficult. I find the following technique to be easy, fast, and with good results. First off, select a relatively soft paper on which to make the rubbings--I use cheap typing paper. I cut up the paper to a convenient size such as about 2 3/4" X 4 1/2", and put one rubbing on each small sheet. To make the rubbing, the token is placed on a firm surface, the paper positioned on top of the token, and the whole thing held in place with the smallest size 2x2 cardboard coin holder which will fit over the token. The cellophane or plastic must be removed from the holder. The cardboard helps to keep everything in place as you rub the entire surface of the piece. I use a large diameter lead blue colored pencil with a blunt point; other color soft lead pencils can also be used. The pencil is held vertically in making the rubbing with special attention paid to making sure that all the letters and designs are rubbed completely.

TOKEN HUNTING

by George Gould, METCA #22

Many collectors now make reference to 'dug' trade tokens in their trading correspondence. The practice of using a metal detector to discover tokens is growing by leaps and bounds. Many very old pieces are being 'unearthed' by this method. It is hoped the following may be of help to those collectors considering this approach to enhancing their collections.

The rewards are in direct proportion to the effort and expenditures involved. If you aren't prepared to spend much time visiting old town-sites and smaller towns nor to invest in a good quality detector, you might as well abandon the idea, unless frustration appeals to you. Most dug tokens are found near the establishment that used them, whether in the dirt near the former threshold or in the ground below the spot where the floor used to be. It therefore helps to know what the building's use was, for to search around a former blacksmith shop for saloon or billiard hall tokens is as futile as checking a former saloon foundation hoping to find horseshoes. The prepared hunter looks for old-timers to point out former business locations, or studies townsite plats available at most county seats. Keep in mind that you are always on someone's private property wherever you are looking, and even an attempt at securing permission to roam from someone nearby makes for much more relaxed hunting. There are numerous areas in our fair land where trespassers are first shot at, then told to leave. Unfortunately souvenir hunters and vandals have not improved the reputation of treasure-hounds, which is surely our classification as token-hunters.

Now about metal detectors. The market abounds with manufactures from $20 specials (usually a converted transistor radio) to sophisticated gadgets in the $700 range equipped with everything from an altimeter to radar. Cheap metal detectors with their single-pitch external speaker are great for ridding vacant lots and your backyard from nails, beer-can pull-tabs or to protect bare feet from tetanus but you won't find many tokens for several reasons. They lack the ability to detect one metal from another. Bottle caps, bolts, pipe, coins, cigarette-package foil, nails and tin cans; all read and sound the same to the cheaper metal detector. Also consider the fact that a penny at 1 inch depth, a silver dollar at 3 inches depth and a rusty bucket at 10 inches all read the same, though very few can penetrate that deep. Metal detectors in the $175-$250 range appear to be the best-suited for token-collecting purposes. The initial investment may be more than repaid by the finding of an expensive ring or quite often by finding an early pistol. It is the author's opinion that the best investment is a good set of rubber-lined earphones, built for comfort and for blocking out distracting sounds. When using this type, however, it is a good idea to cultivate the habit of looking around everyso often while probing around to avoid a minor shock when someone walks up behind you and taps you on the shoulder. Many of the better detectors have the capabilities of detecting various ores, as well as refined metal objects, though not at the same time. The best detectors are those that differentiate different metals by pitch or tone in the audible sound. Practice with various types of metals in different sizes placed at known depths in a plot of ground soon will enable one to understand and use a metal detector.

Some collectors hire students to use their detectors and pay them for their finds. At any rate, use a plastic trowel when investigating a likely spot to avoid damaging your find. And lastly, if your signal disappears after you've dug a hole, check the clump(s) of dirt you just took out of the ground. GOOD HUNTING!!!!

SILVER DOLLAR PLAZA

by Herb Smith, METCA #282

The Silver Dollar Plaza was opened in 1956 by Mr. Shippley, who also owned the Town House, Chic Coiffures, Holiday Theater, and Lower Lake Drugs. All were located in Lower Lake, Lake County, California. Tokens were issued for the Silver Dollar Plaza from 1958 to around 1967, when Mr. Shippley closed the theater and drug store and sold the Silver Dollar Plaza. During the 1956-1967 period, Mr. Shippley was also a Supervisor for Lake County. After selling the store in 1967, he moved to the island of Guam where he lives today. There were 1,000 tokens made (I have been unable to identify the token maker.) Most of these tokens were thrown away. I have been advertising for them for 4 years and during that time I received 3 tokens. Early in 1972, I located Mr. Shippley's father, who gave me this information along with a lot of 27 tokens that the grandchildren used for poker chips. I would say that this is about the only large group of these tokens around. There may be a few more singles but I can't locate any more.

MORE ON THE TUTTLE, NORTH DAKOTA TOKEN

by Melvin Carmichael, METCA #32

A short article in the December, 1972 issue of TRADE TOKEN TOPICS by Charles Danielson, METCA #140, concerned a token bearing only a number, 20089, on the obverse. On delving into our holdings of these numbered tokens, I found nine pieces of this particular number. All came from a large hoard of merchant and slot machine tokens which came from a former slot machine operator in the Rogue River Valley of Oregon.

Of the nine pieces, there were three distinct varieties of it, as follows:

1. Has the 'bow tie' at bottom of obverse. Reverse has a five-pointed star at bottom. There was only one piece of this variety.
2. Has a slightly elongated diamond with a dot on each side of it at bottom of obverse. Star at bottom of reverse. Five of this variety.
3. No ornament on either obverse or reverse. Three of these.

COAL MINE, DRESS SHOP OR SPEAKEASY?

A local collector came by this maverick a few weeks ago. It is old and brass, perhaps circa 1910 to 1930. We see numbers, initials, company and men's names on many maverick tokens, but few carry the name of a business woman. Who was or what was Alice White? Some guesses include:

- Name of a dress shop
- Name of a coal mine
- Name of a large boat

Or could Alice have been a hostess in a speakeasy? Only Alice knows.

CONNECTICUT TRADE TOKENS (SEE COVER)

By William C. Hofmann, METCA #395

The Circolo-E-Campania was a New Haven club whose membership was 90% Italian and predominantly Republican in the old 19th Ward politics of New Haven. The club was located in the Labor Temple Building at 137 Goffe St., New Haven, Conn. up until about 1945 when it moved out. The building was demolished by the New Haven Redevelopment Agency about 15 years ago. Use of these tokens was probably from 1933 through the 1950's. The tokens are brass, solid, round; the 10¢ denomination is 23 mm and the 5¢ token is 20mm.

Pat & Joe's Restaurant at 117 Columbus Ave., New Haven, Conn. was in business over ten years at this location until the New Haven Redevelopment Agency wiped out the whole area near the New Haven Railroad Station about 1960. The proprietors were Pasquale Mascia and Joseph Mongillo. These tokens were later given to the Castel Pagano (St. Rose's Hall) on Alling St. in Hamden, Conn. (a private Italian club) and used there for over 5 years until the disbanding of that club because of a sale of the real estate. This token can thus be coded under 2 different Connecticut towns. It is brass, solid, round, 23 mm.

Bria's Tavern was operated by Anthony Bria at 453 Shelton Ave. in Hamden, Conn. from prohibition days until Mr. Bria sold out at age 80 in 1970. The property is on the northeast corner of Shelton Ave. and Goodrich St., just 300 feet over the New Haven town line. The token is black plastic with white letters, solid, round, 23 mm.

(Ed. Note: Mr. Hofmann will consider trade offers from the Northwest for these tokens.)

MORE ON THE FORT RITNER, INDIANA TOKENS

By Virginia E. King, METCA #127

The November and December, 1972 issues of TRADE TOKEN TOPICS carried articles and pictures of flour and sand tokens issued by T. A. and F. W. Holland who owned and operated a large general store and grist mill on the White River at Ft. Ritner, Indiana. It was noted that the initials 'F.W.' were deleted from the flour payment tokens. It seems that after the flour tokens were struck, Mr. F.W. Holland died, and before the tokens were put into circulation, his initials were removed from the tokens. Mystery solved.

to tear into the room where my encased cents are kept and impatiently search out the encased cent below:

Side two

Surely that odd design around the border on side one is a SECRET MESSAGE! Quick! Find that decoder and find out what the message says. ----Oh! Shucks!!! In just a few short seconds it is evident that this message will never be decoded with the code on my decoder. As translated using the code I have, the words are complete nonsense. The rustlers will probably get safely through the pass if they haven't by now, and; if that doesn't happen then financial disaster will soon be upon us if the local bank is held up! We will be helplessly standing by because of not being able to decode Hoppy's message.

Well, after a few fretful moments I decided to sit down and calmly approach this difficult situation. Maybe I could figure out the message or at least draw some definite conclusions about it. Maybe the day could be saved after all!

To begin with let's put the secret message down in a form which can be more easily read:

0000 00 104 0000H 0- FH-00

Now somewhere I read that the most often-used letter of our alphabet is the letter E. O.K. then does any character of the message appear more often than any other? Well, yes. It is the character 0. Now we are getting somewhere. This character appears more often than any of the others so it is then probably the letter E. Now our only problem is to determine what letters do the other characters stand for. In looking over my other encased cents, I noticed an outstanding characteristic. Out of the 20 that I have, 18 of them say "Keep me and never go broke." It seems then that this might be a likely translation for the secret message from Hoppy on my encased cent. How does this idea work out when applied to the message?

Q Q Q U O Q 1 Q 4 Q Q Q Q H Q ~ Γ H ~ Q Q
e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e

Well, going by the characters which repeat, the E's certainly fit in and so do the letters K, N, R and O. Let's fill in these letters and see what we have.

Q Q Q U O Q 1 Q 4 Q Q Q Q H Q ~ Γ H ~ O Q
k e e e n n e e r o r o k e

It now looks fairly certain to me that Hoppy's message says, "Keep me and never go broke." Well, we can all heave a tremendous sigh of relief for it appears that in this case at least, Hoppy was trying to help us build good thrift habits, and; was not warning us of impending evil deeds by the BAD GUYS!

The question now comes to mind, why did Hoppy have more than one code? The reason is simple and anyone who sends secret messages will be able to tell you the reason. It is that once the bad guys have broken your code they will know your every move if you don't switch to a new code.

Well, partners, my story is about to come to an end and hoppy and his horse Topper will once again ride off into the sunset. I have tried to convey to you some of the interest and excitement I feel when I look at my Hoppy collection. I hope I have not been too amateurish in this short literary attempt and if you have enjoyed this story and have similar interests, I would enjoy hearing from you.

NATIONAL TOKEN, MEDAL AND EXONUMIA COLLECTORS JAMBOREE

Arrangements are developing rapidly for the first new idea in numismatic meetings in a long time. The Governor's House center of the San Jose (California) Hyatt House will be the setting for the National Token, Medal and Exonumia Collectors Jamboree on March 16 to 18, 1973. The time of the Jamboree was selected to coincide with the start of the school Easter vacation period.

The Jamboree was originally scheduled for another part of the Hyatt House, but when additional space became necessary, a move to the Governor's House center was required. The Jamboree will have full use of the Governor's House facilities, a separate centrally-located building located in the central plaza close to the swimming pool.

The bourse and exhibit area will be open to the public from 10 AM to 7 PM on Friday and Saturday, and from 10 AM to 5 PM on Sunday. In addition to a number of dealers from California, there will also be dealers from Nevada, Oregon, Arizona, South Dakota and Virginia. There are still bourse tables available, and additional dealers from around the country are expected to be present.

On Friday evening, starting at 7:00 PM, Paul Koppenhaver of The Coin Haven, Van Nuys, California, will conduct a combined floor-mail auction of a fine selection of exonumia material. Many choice and rare items will be offered for sale under the hammer.

A wide range of exonumia displays will be on hand for viewing pleasure. The exhibits will be non-competitive; display space is still available. One exhibit sure to command a great deal of attention is in a brand new exonumia field--plastic credit cards. A collection of over 200 credit cards has been formed by Walter Cavanagh, a pharmacist of Mountain View, California. This collection was started on a bet with a friend to see who could obtain the most credit cards in one year. Mr. Cavanagh won the bet with 201 cards compared to his friend's 114. This collection, still growing and expected to be about 250 by the time of the Jamboree, has won a listing in the 1973 Guinness Book of Records, has resulted in world-wide publicity for Mr. Cavanagh and has made a most interesting display which will be "borrowed" for the Jamboree from its place at Ripley's Believe It or Not Museum at Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco. As the result of inquiries received from around the world, Mr. Cavanagh is considering forming a club for those interested in collecting credit cards. Since the credit card can be used in place of money--just as tokens are used in place of money--this is a part of exonumia. And this just could turn out to be a very popular collecting field! Another popular display will be an elongated cent rolling machine where viewers will have the opportunity to "roll your own." Dale Noll will also have on display, possibly in working condition, a token striking press formerly used by Quincy Calglessner, San Jose, in the early 1900's to strike a number of local trade tokens, badges, buttons and medals. A fine collection of the rare "good for" pocket mirrors will be shown by Chriss Christiansen. Ray Erksen

- MAVERICK TOKEN COMMENTS -

Only a few things to cover this month. First off, please send all correspondence regarding this section to me--Ray has enough to do without having to forward things to me.

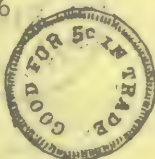

Next, I want to add another item to the "groundrules", and that is that you send only rubbings (not impressions since they do not reproduce well) of your tokens. Please place the rubbings for one token on one small sheet of paper, and include on the sheet the metal, size, the inscription and your METCA membership number.

When I get your rubbings, they are sorted into three categories: (1) attributable, (2) probably attributable, (3) probably not attributable. Category (1) includes tokens which carry a street address, which have both a business name and proprietor name, or an unusual business or proprietor name; (2) includes tokens with distinctive business or proprietor names; (3) includes tokens which have initials only, common business names or common proprietor names. Since there are many thousands of maverick tokens to be identified, it seems reasonable to concentrate on those which have a reasonable chance of being attributed. Thus, what I hope to present to you will be mainly tokens from my category (1), perhaps some from category (2), and almost never any from category (3) unless I run short of material (which does not seem likely).

One final note. Some time in the future I will be running lists of tokens without rubbings where the reverse designs are of a standard type such as Ingle System, Brunswick-Balke-Collender, etc. But I still need the rubbings so that I can determine the standard reverse type.

will show his award winning exhibit of sales tax tokens. Other collector exhibits will be on hand, but arrangements are incomplete at this time. Another type of exhibit will consist of a variety of exonomia publications. Some of these publications are being sent to the Jamboree by authors and publishers expressly for this display; various exonomia organizations are also submitting copies of their catalogues and other publications. The display will be augmented by referencebooks from private libraries. Another display will consist of contemporary medals sent for exhibition by the various minting firms and distributors of medals; the medals submitted will be awarded as door prizes at the banquet.

A gourmet buffet banquet is set for Saturday evening. This will be a departure from the usual banquet fare. Tickets are $10.00.

Various exonomia organizations have scheduled meetings during the Jamboree. The groups presently set-up to meet are The Society of Ration Token Collectors, the California-Nevada Token Society (biannual meeting), Merchant Token Collectors Association, and the Bay Area Token Society. Arrangements are incomplete for several other clubs which have expressed interest.

A separate large room will be open to collectors to talk, swap, sell and socialize. Small-scale dealing between individual collectors will be permitted in this room.

Collector registration for the Jamboree has been set at $15.00. This fee includes admission to the bourse, exhibits, club meetings and the collectors' social room, a ticket to the gourmet banquet (the ticket will be a token!), and three tokens each worth $1.00 in trade with any of the bourse dealers. As an inducement to early registration, those who send in the fee before March 1 will be given a set of the three trade tokens at the conclusion of the Jamboree.

Public admission to the bourse and exhibits will cost $1.00 per day. Each day the first 500 paid admissions will each receive one of the $1.00 trade tokens valid with the bourse dealers.

Anyone who registers in advance and then finds that he is unable to attend the Jamboree will receive a full refund of the registration fee.

Contact Duane H. Feisel, P.O. Box 11661, Palo Alto, CA 94306, for further information about any aspect of the Jamboree including bourse space, exhibits, club meetings, submission of material for the exonomia library display, submission of items for the contemporary medal display, motel room reservation forms (the Hyatt House has set aside a limited number of rooms for Jamboree registrants), banquet tickets, and registration. For anything pertaining to the auction, you should write Paul L. Koppenhaver, P.O. Box 430, Van Nuys, CA 91408.

TOKEN HINTS

by George Gould, METCA #22

1. Too many collectors do not enhance their collections because they do not pursue 'multiple-trade' swaps. Example: you collect Colorado. Joe has Colorado and collects Louisiana. You have no Louisiana, but why stop there? Your friend, Sam, has Louisiana that Joe may need. You may have something Sam has wanted so no problem in getting a list which you in turn acquire and then list to Joe. Get the idea? Many collectors think nothing of a 4 or 5 way chain trade to acquire what they desire. All it takes is correspondence on your part, and everybody is happy along the way.

2. One of the best ways to increase the chances of your getting your tokens back if you get burglarized is to acquaint your local coin shop dealers with a few unusual tokens in your collection, whether in design, filigree or whatever. In this manner you provide a sort of 'signature' to your collection which dealers might notice later in a collection offered to them. Most burglaries are performed by the 18-25 age group who will usually try to dispose of them locally for whatever they can get when they realize that the tokens are not coins. If you advertise who you are on your token 2 x 2's, the burglars will become suspicious and strip the tokens out, thus probably losing many as a result. Last but not least, AS SOON as you discover your loss, contact ALL local shops immediately because burglars move fast.

3. Most individuals, collectors and non-collectors alike, enjoy bartering or horse-trading. Too many collectors stumble upon tokens (owned by shopkeepers, tavern owners and such) and are discouraged when their cash offer is refused. Why necessarily cash? Find out what the token owner's likes and interests are, be it fishing, hunting, watch-fobs or comic books. Make a note of this and look around. Go back and offer him a fishing pole 'you've had kicking around for years.' He will probably say he's interested (you hope.) Then all you need to do is stop by Jerry's Surplus Store and pick one up! Ask yourself: is that saloon token worth an inexpensive fishing pole? All advanced collectors can relate swaps of this nature.

THE SETH E. WARD TOKENS AND REPRODUCTIONS

by J. Rickie Walsh, METCA #281

(Ed. Note: Reference February and August 1972 issues of TRADE TOKEN TOPICS.)

A few issues back it was noted in the Publisher's Report that there were Fort Laramie, Dakota Territory reproduction tokens in existence. With this article I hope to shed some light on these reproductions and the original tokens.

Fort Laramie was built by William Sublette and Robert Campell as a fur trading post in 1834. Within two years it was bought by the American Fur Company and continued as a trading post, gaining importance in supplying travelers on the Oregon Trail, until it was sold to the U.S. Government and became an army post in 1849. While in use as a trading post, Fort Laramie was also known as Fort William and later Fort John.

Seth Edmund Ward was officially the Sutler at Fort Laramie, Dakota Territory (later Wyoming Territory) from April 30, 1857, when he received his warrant from the Secretary of War, until its expiration date of March 4, 1863. He was reappointed on March 6, 1865 and held the Sutler's position until August 2, 1867 when his title changed to Post Trader. He remained as Post Trader until 1871. His actual dates of owning the store do differ from these dates. John Thomas Tutt was the Sutler previous to Ward. On March 11, 1857, Tutt resigned his position and on that same day the Post Council of Administration nominated Ward to the sutlership. Ward was well known in the area around Fort Laramie as he had been dealing with the Indians along the Platte River since 1848. On the 19th of March, 1857, Ward bought Tutt's goods (at the time Tutt was in partnership with Lewis Dougherty) for $3,000.000 and became Fort Laramie's second Sutler.

Although travel on the Oregon Trail had declined somewhat from the peak years of 1849-52, Fort Laramie was still quite important in supplying the civilian and Indian populace of the area in addition to the military. From these activities the sutler's store averaged over $100 of cash business daily in the summer of 1867. Since this was only two years after the Civil War ended, coins of government issue were not readily available on the western frontier. There was a multitude of other monies in use including private scrip, fractional currency, private tokens and various types of bank notes. Because of these facts and with the idea that tokens would be easier to preserve and more convenient to use than paper money, Ward decided to have his own tokens made. Thus he had tokens struck in the denominations of 10¢, 25¢ and 50¢ in St. Louis. The exact date of this order is not known at the present time but it had to be before August 2, 1867 as after that date, his position changed to Post Trader and on the tokens he is listed as Sutler, U.S.A(rmy). These tokens were shipped to the fort and were placed into use soon after their arrival late in October 1867. The mintages of these tokens were: three thousand 10¢ tokens, six thousand 25¢ tokens and six thousand 50¢ tokens for a total mintage of 15,000 tokens. These tokens were used for the next five years until John S. McCormick was appointed Post Trader on May 20, 1871. McCormick arrived at the post and purchased Ward's stock for $12,000 on June 29, 1871. These tokens had served their purpose well during this period and were especially useful in lending pay to troops stationed at the post since they could be used only at Ward's store and not at the various other enterprises located around the fort. Tokens were used in all probability by the next four Post Traders after Ward, although one of these did not issue tokens in his own name.

The reproduction tokens are of the 50¢ denomination (please see photos.) They were ordered through Alva Museum Replicas, Inc. of Long Island, New York by the Fort Laramie Historical Association in 1970. Five thousand of these tokens were struck in brass. It is rather interesting to note that there were 1,000 less replicas made than the original amount of the 50¢ tokens. These reproductions are marked REPLICA JAPAN in raised lettering under the incuse, reversed word GOODS on the reverse. Another characteristic of these replicas is a straight clip at 2-3 o'clock with the clip being approximately 13 mm long. Apparently the clip is due to the fact that the original (the token that the reproduction was copied from) token's planchet was cut from the end of the planchet stock. The reproduction weighs about 90 grains while the original token weighs approximately 82 grains. These reproduction tokens are on the market and can be detected by the wording REPLICA JAPAN which due to its raised nature can be removed or by the more noticeable and nonremovable straight clip. In comparing the reproduction with the real tokens, it appears that the repros have been cast because of the rough background and lack of minute details.

However rather than trying to part the collector and his money as many reproduction tokens do these days, these replicas were intended to raise funds for the further development of Fort Laramie by the Fort Laramie Historical Association. The Fort is now a National Monument and is administered by the National Park Service. It is located just off U.S. Highway 26 near the town of Ft. Laramie, Wyoming or about 20 miles from Torrington, Wyoming and is open to the public year round.

COLLECTING YOUR STATE BY TOWN

By William Clapper, METCA #25

Before moving to Nebraska from South Dakota and while collecting the State of South Dakota, I thought collecting by town was the easy way, in fact the lazy way of collecting tokens. I soon found that this was not true, in fact collecting by town and competing to see who could get the most towns of his State was actually one rough challenge. Collecting by town is not a new way of collecting tokens. Civil War token collectors started this type of collecting long ago because it was impossible to collect all the tokens that were issued unless one was quite wealthy and had a great deal of time to spend on his hobby. Too, many coin collectors collect by type (one of each type of coin minted in the U.S., Mexico, Canada, etc.) because they cannot afford to collect all the sets of coins that it would be possible to collect.

For the one who is thinking of an investment along with his collecting, he might consider that rare town collections go for some very high prices when sold and are quite sought after, if the collection is made up of rare pieces in the category of unique or one of only two or three known pieces. While living in South Dakota, my interest was to collect one of every token that I could find and I built a very large collection which is now owned by George Niederauer of Miller, South Dakota, METCA member #97. Not wishing to give up token collecting, I started a collection of South Dakota tokens based on one rare token of each town. I have now built that collection to the second largest number of towns of South Dakota, second only to that of George Niederauer.

But this was not the greatest challenge. When I moved to Nebraska, I decided to collect Nebraska tokens. I was faced with what every new collector is faced with - - those big and very old collections that would never be matched, not even if I lived to be 200 years old and had a million dollars to invest in tokens. Most of these collections were started years ago, just as I started the South Dakota collection. No one will ever be able to match the South Dakota collection that I started, no matter how long he lives and no matter how much money he has. This is true with most all the large State collections. You are just not going to be able to match them - - AND WHY TRY??? Why not build something rare, as challenging and as valuable for the future?

Build a rare town collection. Compete with your fellow collectors and make your hobby one of great interest, challenge and fun. I figure if I cannot have the best collection in the State by volume, then by darn I'll have the best town collection in the State. I mean to have the best South Dakota town collection and the best Nebraska town collection.
THAT IS A CHALLENGE!!!

= TOKEN AND MEDAL JAMBOREE ALMOST HERE =

In just a few weeks collectors from all parts of the country will gather in San Jose, California, for the first NATIONAL TOKEN, MEDAL AND EXONUMIA COLLECTORS JAMBOREE. Scheduled for March 16-18, 1973, at the San Jose Hyatt House, the Jamboree will have many features of interest to token collectors.

First off, there will be a chance to meet and visit with other token collectors. Judging from the early registrations, a large percentage of those attending will be members of METCA. If other similar meetings are any indication, there will be gatherings of collectors until the wee hours of the morning each day.

Next, the dealers' bourse will be quite extensive with the following among those having tables: Paul L. Koppenhaver, Van Nuys, Calif.; Ben Adams, Van Nuys, Calif.; Duane H. Feisel, Palo Alto, Calif.; Ron Gillio, Santa Barbara, Calif.; Melvin Carmichael, Klamath Falls, Ore.; George W. Niederauer, Miller, S.D.; Larry Elman, International Collectors Service, Woodland Hills, Calif.; Nona Moore, Nona's Coins, Fontana, Calif.; H.C. Schmal, Phoenix, Ariz.; H. Joseph Levine, Presidential Coin & Antique Co., Alexandria, Va.; John T. Hamilton III, Tucson, Ariz.; Danny B. Crabb, Van Nuys, Calif.; Frank Roza, Jr., Carson City, Nev.; Bill Davis, Araphahoe Coins & Medals, Littleton, Colo.; Chriss Christiansen, Cupertino, Calif.; Harlan White La Jolla, Calif.; Braun's Ltd., Encino, Calif. It is expected that the few remaining tables will be filled by the time of the Jamboree.

Then there will be the chance to attend meetings of the various exonumia organizations meeting during the Jamboree. A METCA meeting is scheduled for 4 PM to 6 PM on Saturday, March 17. Other organizations meeting during the Jamboree include the Society of Ration Token Collectors, the California-Nevada Token Society, the American Tax Token Society, the Civil War Token Society, and the Bay Area Token Society.

Several panel discussions will take place. One sure to produce lots of action will be devoted to "Fakes, Fantasies and Frauds," a subject of vital importance to all token collectors. There will be a joint session on cataloguing and mavericks. Experts will describe methods of attributing maverick tokens, and will attempt to attribute tokens presented by members of the audience. Other persons active in cataloguing tokens in many fields will be present to describe various aspects of cataloguing and to record new items provided by those attending. Audience participation will be encouraged at these sessions.

A number of outstanding exhibits will be on hand for your viewing pleasure. Special arrangements have been made to show the collection of about 250 credit cards obtained by Walter Cavanagh, a pharmacist from Mountain View, Calif. This unusual collection has had worldwide publicity, has earned a place in the Guinness Book of Records, and is usually displayed at the Ripley's Believe It or Not Museum in San Francisco. Chriss Christiansen will have a display of "good for" pocket mirrors, while Dale Noll will have a working elongated cent rolling machine and the Quincy Calglessor token press described in the August 1972 issue

1973 - ISSUE 3

= MAVERICK TOKEN COMMENTS =

Keeping track of the maverick tokens reported and then attributed is a real job! I am gradually setting up a file card system, but that can go only so far. From what I know about computer generated listings, that would seem to be the way to go. No matter how such a listing might be done, it will be a major undertaking. I wonder how many collectors would be interested in a catalogue of maverick tokens?

One of the most useful compilations of maverick tokens I have seen has been done by Sam Ruggeri, METCA #211. Sam has taken all the TAMS listed maverick trade tokens through May 1972 and put them into two listings. The first list is an alphabetical arrangement of the names on the maverick tokens, and the second is an alphabetical arrangement by name of all the attributed tokens. Both lists are available for a total cost of $1.50 from Mr. Ruggeri at P.O. Box 561, No. Bellmore, NY 11710.

= ATTRIBUTIONS =

#729 BURNS POOL HALL, COPPERFIELD, ORE.

An error was made previously in attributing maverick #727 to Copperfield. The correction was sent in by Ed Saunders.

#795 PELICAN BREWING COMPANY, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Ken Bassett finds that the Pelican Brewing Co. was one of four companies comprising the Louisiana Brewing Association in 1898.

#819 POOL ROOM P. HERTZ, PROP., DENVER, COLO.

The address on the token should be 1738 rather than 738 as shown in the rubbing and listing according to Jim Zervas who found a listing in his 1919 Denver city directory; the P. stands for Phillip. By 1928 there was another owner. Lee Nott also attributed this token to Denver.

#821 THE PIKE RECREATION, DENVER, COLO.

As pointed out by Blaine Simons, this piece was previously attributed in the TAMS listing. There is a set of tokens from the place according to Forrest Dunham who also gives Seattle as the correct attribution.

#825 UPTONS CORNER, WALLA WALLA, WASH.

Location by Forrest Dunham.

#826 A.J. CUENY, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Sorry to say that I neglected to record who reported the location for this piece. Whoever it was also has another token for the same user: A.J. CUENY (i) / GOOD FOR / 5¢ / WITH M.T. BOTTLE (i) // (star), brass 23 mm. The (i) in this inscription means that that line of the inscription is in incuse letters--remember this notation since it will be used again for future listings.

#831 THE AM. EXCHANGE SALOON, M.P. KALICH, SUTTER CREEK, CAL.

Chriss Christiansen maintains a card index of the names of saloons and saloon proprietors for California, and found a listing in his index. A directory for 1898-99 carries a listing for an American Exchange Hotel in Sutter Creek.

of "Trade Token Topics" (providing that he can find a suitable means for hauling the press to the Jamboree). An award winning display of sales tax tokens will be shown by Ray Erkson. A number of frames of unusual exonumia items will be shown by Ed Saunders. Viola Thomas will show several frames of ration items. Several other interesting and outstanding displays are expected from other collectors. A number of medal producing companies, medal distributors, manufacturers, etc., have submitted items for a special display of "Contemporary Medal Art"--part of the gourmet buffet banquet on Saturday evening should make this display of even more interest. Then there have been exonumia books provided by authors, publishers and distributors for an "Exonumia Library" display. Augmenting this display will be books from the private libraries of several collectors. Finally, many exonumia clubs will have available for perusal back issues of their newsletters, plus information on membership.

The informal gourmet banquet on Saturday evening will be a departure from the usual banquet fare. Served buffet style, the menu includes a variety of taste tempting items not usually seen at coin convention banquets. The program for the evening will be very informal--there will definitely not be any long-winded after dinner speaker! Several surprises are in store for those attending the banquet, a part of the Jamboree not to be missed.

Friday evening will see the auction of exonumia material conducted by Paul L. Koppenhaver. An outstanding array of tokens and medals has been assembled for this important auction.

Other pleasant surprises are in store for those collectors registering for the Jamboree. So come along and join the fun!

- Duane H. Feisel

RECENT FANTASY TOKENS

SEE PAGE 39

RECENT FANTASY TOKENS by Duane H. Feisel

As many of you know, in addition to collecting and writing about tokens, I also sell tokens and medals to businesses, individuals and organizations. Many collectors have ordered "personal" tokens from me, and to members of METCA I offer a 25% discount from the list price. This discount makes the price quite attractive, and many collectors have taken advantage of it. Anyone interested can write and ask for order information--I have a nice four-page folder made up. My token business is placed with Meyer & Wenthe, Inc., a long-established and reputable manufacturer located in Chicago. The die work and token striking from this firm is of the highest quality.

From time to time I have faced the problem of becoming involved with the manufacture of fantasy, imitation, reproduction, etc., tokens through inquiry from prospective customers. This whole area is one of major concern to all collectors, and I am not sure how it should be handled. One of the sessions at the forthcoming Token Jamboree is devoted to this subject, so perhaps some answers--or at least some opinions--should result. Anyhow, with regard to making such items to customer order, I have decided to accept such orders, not necessarily because I am in favor of such tokens but because I feel that anyone who wants to have tokens made--of whatever nature--can find a source. It is better that these tokens be made through me so that information about them can be made available to collectors.

Recently a collector-dealer from Houston, Texas, James B. Hughes, Jr., who operates a business called Deep River Armory, Inc., ordered through me five fantasy tokens. Mr. Hughes plans to sell these fantasy tokens at gun shows, and in no way intends that they fool anyone. However, what happens after the tokens leave his hands could be a different story. In an attempt to protect collectors, Mr. Hughes agreed to place the letters "DRA" on the obverse of each token; DRA stands for Deep River Armory, of course. This should be of help to collectors in recognizing these fantasies should they run across them.

Here are rubbings and descriptions of these fantasy tokens:

- |         |   |

Mr. Hughes has been receptive to the idea of placing the DRA on the tokens, and to presenting this information to you.

NEW TRANSPORTATION TOKEN FIND

By Eddy M. Hill, METCA #311

Obv: W. E. Eastburn/Camp Shelby, Miss.

Rev: No Cash Value

Round - White Metal - 21 mm.

The tokens were used during World War II by Mr. William E. Eastburn of Hattiesburg, Mississippi for his bus-line customers.

There was a lot of commuting between Hattiesburg and Camp Shelby by military and civilian personnel during this time and the use of tokens was a convenient way of paying their fare.

Considering the fact that the Camp Shelby tokens are included as military, Mississippi, and transportation tokens, the rarity is great. At this point, only six specimens are known to exist.

CAN YOU BELIEVE?

By Edward Saunders, METCA #136

All of us who find our thrills in searching out little known places dream of finding the exceptional tokens. About three years ago I was looking for tokens in a small town southeast of Salem, Oregon when I chanced to meet the man who had owned the store in which these unusual tokens were used.

All the tokens are aluminum. Note the 'S' counterstamp on the 10¢ piece and the 'A' counterstamp on the $1.00 token.

CAN YOU BELIEVE? (cont'd.)

The tokens illustrated were used as discount tokens by the Speer Brothers of Aumsville, Oregon about 1910. At the time of our first meeting three years ago, Mr. Speer gave me one of the 22½¢ Cash / 25¢ Trade pieces. After spending three years trying to get more information about the one token that I had, I was able to coax Mr. Speer into letting me take rubbings of the other pieces that he had in his possession. On this particular day he was in good spirits and brought out a small box which contained ten tokens and a couple of medals. As it turned out, I was able to buy all but one of the tokens in the box.

I stayed and talked with Mr. Speer and his wife for quite a while, and he told me quite a bit about the business that he and his brothers ran. He said that he was the only original old-timer still living in the town and also the oldest resident. When I asked Mr. Speer how old he was, knowing that he had operated a business in that town over 62 years ago, he replied, 'I am 39, of course.' And I guess the saying holds true, 'You are only as old as you feel.'

As for the counterstamps, there was a large 'S' on one of the 4½¢/5¢ pieces and also on the 9¢/10¢ variety. I assumed the 'A' was for the town of Aumsville, and the 'S' found on some of the others was for the name of the proprietors. It is not often that one finds a bi-denominational token. I have seen only a few others; I have one from Vernon, California that is good for Two Bits on one side and says One Buck on the other. There is a similar set of tokens used by the Haslam Lumber Co. of Haslam, Texas that were 20% discounted pieces but only contained one denomination and are found in 4¢, 8¢, 20¢, 40¢ and 80¢ denominations. The 10% discount tokens from Aumsville are interesting in that they bring to light some unusual denominations which are most difficult for any collector to find. The tokens were given to the egg man, the produce man, the man who brought groceries and meats. They could be used to gain the 10% discount or cashed at the cash value stated on the token. The word 'Cash' is not legal and is seldom found on tokens of any kind.

You 'odd good for' collectors, here is another challenge to explore. Not too long ago I saw a token good for 12¢ and another good for 62½¢. The 62½¢ token was from Baker, Oregon while the other could have been an Idaho token. It is these little known pieces and the adventure of what one might find that make token collecting a fabulous hobby, full of enjoyment and thrills.

In the reference issue of METCA MONITOR, information was requested concerning the Little Bar tokens of Houston, Texas. We have received (via Maynard Harrod, METCA #133, and Chriss Christiansen, METCA #61) a copy of a note from Cajun Coins, Box 672, Mandeville, Louisiana 70448, a company that makes tokens, stating that they produced these tokens for Mr. J.R. Luker of 3603 Breacrest St., Houston, Texas 77016 in late 1971.

TOKENS OF LUMBERTON, MISSISSIPPI

By Eddy M. Hill, METCA #311

CAMP & HINTON

OBV: Good For/$1.00/in trade/Camp & Hinton (all incuse)

REV: Blank

Round, brass

38 mm

R-10

The story of Lumberton, Mississippi started with a man named Ellie Dearman. He cleared land and built two small log cabins at a point 112 miles south of Meridian, Miss. and 84 miles north of New Orleans, La. He lived there for years and raised his family. When the New Orleans and Northeastern Railroad was proposed to run through this area (Meridian to New Orleans), Mr. Dearman homesteaded the land and secured a patent from the government. About this time, four Georgians, three Hinton brothers (J.H., R.W. and H.P.Hinton) and H.A.Camp, a cousin of the Hintons, decided to make their fortunes in this new country. J.H.Hinton had sawmill experience acquired under his father-in-law, J.J.White of McComb City, Miss. After a short search through South Mississippi's piney woods, they chose the spot known as the 'Dearman Homestead.' In 1883 they purchased the site and began their mill.

Mr. 'Ham' (J.H.Hinton) met his first payday by borrowing a twenty dollar gold piece from 'Miss Emmet', his wife. So it may be assumed that tokens came into existence at a later date. The name of the business when it was first formed is not known at this time. However in 1886 or 1887, J.H.Hinton and H.A.Camp purchased the interest of R.W.Hinton and H.P.Hinton and the style of the firm was changed to Camp & Hinton. (Note: Camp & Hinton is the name on the $1.00 brass token.)

TOKENS OF LUMBERTON, MISSISSIPPI (cont'd.)

In 1892 the sawmill was completely destroyed by fire. Without a day lost or a halt in work they rebuilt it, completing the task in 1893. In 1897 Camp & Hinton was succeeded by Camp & Hinton Co. ( a corporation that consisted of J.J.White, H.A.Camp and J.H.Hinton.) The Camp & Hinton tokens were good only at the R.W.Hinton Co., a mercantile owned by R.W. Hinton.

| Good for/10¢/in mdse only      | 24 mm | R-6 |
| Good for/5¢/in mdse only       | 20 mm | R-9 |

All four token denominations are round, aluminum with hole in center.

The R. W. Hinton Co. came into existence in the early 1890's, the exact date being unknown. It was owned solely by R. W. Hinton and its primary purpose was that of a commissary for Camp & Hinton's sawmill. This company underwent a change in March of 1895. Hinton, Bethune and Barnes assumed control under the name of Hinton & Barnes. After four years with the firm, Mr. Barnes withdrew and that same year of 1899, the company was incorporated. The officers of the company were Mr. R. W. Hinton, president; Mr. H. H. Folk, vice-president; and Mr. C. W. Yawns as secretary and treasurer. Soon after, Mr. Folk sold his interest to Mr. A. S. Hinton who became the vice-president.

The store was known as 'The Red Store.' (Note: This was probably because it was painted the color red, not because of Mr. Hinton's political beliefs.) Dry goods and notions were sold at The Red Store along with groceries, feed and hardware. In addition to the mercantile, the R. W. Hinton Co. was also engaged in a sawmill operation and turpentine works. The sawmill produced 50,000 board feet of lumber a day (1902 figures) and the turpentine business yielded 1,100 barrels of spirits and 5,000 barrels of rosin (1901 figures.)

The R. W. Hinton Co. discontinued operations about 1920, according to some of Lumberton's 'old-timers.'

The Risher Co. was owned and operated by Mr. H. E. Risher. It began operations about 1900 as a general merchandise store, carrying such goods as dry goods, furniture, notions, women's and men's furnishings, and groceries. The tokens used by the Risher Co. were given as change to the customers. The store discontinued operations about 1909.

Token Collector's Pages

Melvin and George Fuld

Continuing a series entitled Gleanings from the Numismatist, this volume assembles the various articles by the authors that were originally published under the same title in The Numismatist between 1948 and 1971. Encompassing a reprint of the 87 different articles, this hardbound reference has a total of 264 pages which are extensively illustrated. A new preface has been added by the authors as has an index to facilitate the location of various tokens. A modern price guide has also been included which places a valuation on the tokens and this will significantly add to this volume's usefulness.

This compilation deals with such important categories as Movie Tokens, Baseball Tokens, Barber Shop Tokens, Oyster Packing Tokens and many other categories. As a survey, this book provides a grand panorama of the variety and scope of this fascinating subspecies of American Numismatics.

Token Collector's Pages is an absolute necessity for the collector and dealer in American Tokens and the reference library with special historical interests.

A 'FREE DRINK' BOX?

By Gerald L. Jones, METCA #412

Several months ago I was poking around in an old second-hand store and came upon an old hardwood box, about 9 x 4 x 3 inches, which had a sliding front with a lock. The lock was locked and no key was with it. There was a  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch round hole in the top of the slide and at the bottom was a slide which would deliver a marble or something of the size each time it was slid out. I slid the slide out and got a token which said 'Good for 1 cigar' on one side and the number 275 on the other. The box obviously had a number of tokens in it so I bought it and took it home. The lock opened when I tried an old sewing machine key on it. Inside were about 200 of the cigar tokens, from 1 to 10 cigars, and about 25 sets of 5¢ and 12½¢ tokens of the Harrington Liquor House. The 12½¢ tokens are octagonal and the 5¢ tokens are round with a scalloped edge. Both are aluminum, about 26 mm across. I have since learned that there was a Harrington Saloon here in Hillsboro, Texas in the early 1900's. It was also known as the Harrington Liquor House. The tokens do not show the name of the town.

I would like to know if any members might know something about the box itself. One old-timer suggested that it was a 'free drink' box. It contained a number of marbles of one color and one or two of another. When a customer bought a drink, he was entitled to withdraw a marble. If the marble was the lucky color, he got a free drink. The hole at the top of the slide was to replace the marble.

TRADING TIPS FOR NEW COLLECTORS

By George Gould, METCA #22

(Ed. Note: Sometime back several new collectors had commented that they were uncertain as to how to begin trading with the 'old-timers.' So we asked Mr. Gould to write an article for the new collectors on this subject.

One of the disadvantages of a new collector of trade tokens who enters the collecting fraternity is his inexperience in trading with other collectors. The average new collector enters the hobby with perhaps 50-60 trade tokens, of which at least 5 or 6 by odds alone would probably be in the rare or unique category. The rub is, he doesn't know this. To the newcomer, a saloon token, a territory token, a pictorial token are all just tokens and when the quick-moving sharpies write and offer 3 tokens for one of those 'goodies,' the newcomer is overjoyed; after all 3 tokens for 1! The sharpy usually writes first, welcomes him to the hobby and asks for a list of his tokens so that he may 'help' him add new towns to his young collection. The sharpy gets the list, scans it, knowing the rare types or towns and makes his 3 for 1 offer with the pitch, 'I need this one for a variety,' or the sentimental approach, 'My Dad lived in Goldville when he was a boy and I sure would like that piece.' The naive newcomer, wanting to be duly accepted as a nice guy in the hobby, usually agrees to what he will find out later is a very one-sided trade.

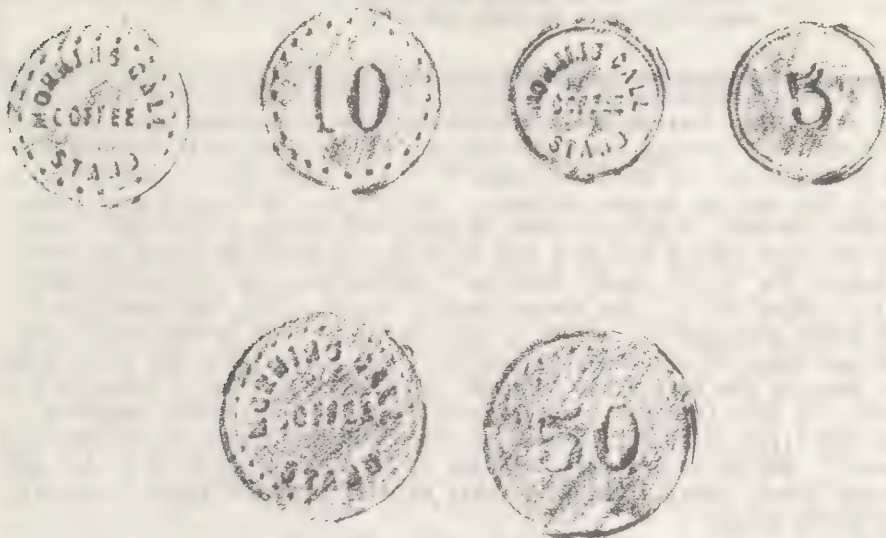

We in the hobby know that this happens continually with the new collector, and many have been greatly saddened to find out that they were 'snookered' out of a choice piece. If you are new to the hobby, do 2 or 3 things immediately: (1) Get an atlas or map of the state(s) you are collecting. Note the populations of towns that are represented in your collection. Usually the smaller the town, the better the token. If there is no listing or population listing for the community, it may be a 'ghost town category' token, scarce indeed. (2) Before ANY trading, visit or write a few other local state collectors and see what they have; number of different pieces from a town, etc. (3) Note that a token with the word 'Saloon' on it is hot property; also 'pictorials' (tokens with an object pictured on them), also territory pieces, and last, unusual die-work or filigree.

ALL collectors like to brag about the 'scarce' or 'unusual' pieces that they have. Too many new collectors unhappily find out that they HAD some like that when they started out.

THE 'MORNING CALL' TOKENS OF NEW ORLEANS

By R. B. Worthington, METCA #253

Illustrated below are three denominations of tokens used by waiters of the Morning Call Coffee Stand in the old French Quarter of New Orleans.

The 'Morning Call' is a New Orleans landmark, and over many years both natives and visitors to New Orleans have dropped by to enjoy the rich Louisiana coffee laced with chicory and the native doughnuts, beignets, (pronounced baynay) which remain a part of New Orleans French heritage. Open 24 hours a day, the Morning Call serves the workers of the day, the after-theater crowd, the prowlers of the night and the early-rising stevedores who work on the nearby docks. No trip to New Orleans is complete without a stop-off at the Morning Call. The coffee, white milk, dark milk (chocolate) and beignets are the menu. The coffee is usually a half and half mixture of coffee with chicory and warm milk, and in a very short time one acquires a real taste for its hearty flavor.

The tokens in question are purchased by the waiters from the proprietors of the Morning Call. They are used by the waiters to pay for the coffee and beignets, and the waiters in turn collect their money from the patrons. Thus, there are no checks, no waiting in line to check out at the cash register, no change to make except right at the table or counter and is therefore a very efficient system.

THE 'MORNING CALL' TOKENS (cont'd.)

Next time in New Orleans, drop by the Morning Call and have some coffee and beignets. Tip the waiter a little heavier than usual and he'll likely sell you a set of tokens.

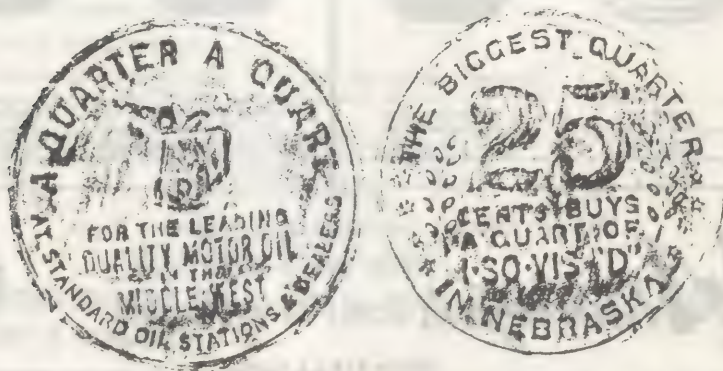

(Author's Note: The tokens are currently in use and I think they likely had predecessors, as constant handling of soft aluminum is bound to cause considerable wear. I might add that the waiters pay $9.60 for $10.00 worth of tokens. This represents $10.00 worth of tokens and 60¢ state tax. Thus the waiter makes $1.00 on $10.00 and likely receives no salary other than this commission and tips. This is speculation on my part as my informant was reluctant to say. Since tips are fantastic and virtually untaxable, the Morning Call has a long waiting list for waiters.)

TEXAS-SIZE QUARTER FROM NEBRASKA

By Edward Saunders, METCA #136

The token, or storecard, pictured below could have been worth a quarter according to the wording on the reverse; yet it could also be just an advertisement. It is aluminum and measures 51 mm. One might expect Texas to have one this size but Nebraska has to take the credit for this large quarter.

I have no idea how old this piece is but it probably came out when Standard Oil introduced its new oil I-SO-VIS 'D'.

PUBLISHERS' NOTES

We would like to offer our heartiest congratulations to Rickie Walsh, METCA #281, from Cheyenne, Wyoming. Rickie applied for an American Numismatic Association Scholarship to the ANA Summer Seminar July 8 through July 14. He has received word from the Young Numismatist Committee that out of 57 nationwide applications, he won one of the seven available scholarships.

Rickie is the author of the article 'The Seth E. Ward Tokens And Reproductions' featured in the March, 1973 issue of TRADE TOKEN TOPICS.

MEMBER PASSED ON

Arthur Krauss, METCA #184 passed away April 26, 1973 after a long illness.

TOKEN JAMBOREE

We just received photographs and information on this past token jamboree from Duane Feisel which we hope to print in the near future.

MORE TOKEN TRADING TIPS

ETHICS (Reprinted from an article by George Gould. METCA #22, in March, 1971 issue of TRADE TOKEN TOPICS.)

Please don't send unsolicited tokens to members unless return postage (at least) is included. Rubbings and impressions serve the same purpose nicely. Many experienced collectors acquire a few grey hairs when they receive a scarce piece uninsured, uncertified and unregistered through the mail. It takes just one lost piece to cause problems. The U.S. Postal Service is not infallible. Also please be reasonable on trades. Token for token, an old filigree 5¢ piece is worth more than a later made $1.00 piece, usually because of the quantities made as well as the nostalgia connected with the older pieces.

GENTLEMAN'S AGREEMENT (Edited from an article by Joe J. Davich, METCA #226.)

As a collector, I would define a 'gentleman's agreement' as an exchange of a promise secured by the honor of each person involved. We as collectors have a definite obligation to each other but many collectors retain a token or coin that is mailed to them for a long period of time and fail to make the proper payment agreed upon. When a trade or sale is made with either a general collector or a dealer, the collector sending the token has an investment in that piece and should not have to wait weeks and sometimes months for the mutually agreed upon return payment or trade, whatever the case may be.

COPPER INDIAN TOKEN

By Edward Saunders, METCA #136

Here is a nice copper token used on an Indian reservation. The piece is fairly modern, but very well made.

MORE LADY MAVERICKS

To show that Alice was not alone (see page 6 Jan., 1973 T.T.T.) Ford Knight, METCA #153 sends us rubbings of tokens used by other businesswomen.

GOVERNMENT SCRIP

If you should send the Superintendent of Documents in Washington D.C. too much money for one of his publications he will make change in the form of scrip pictured below. A new change making policy for the Government Printing Office which works very well for those who buy documents etc. from him.

THE GINGHAM INN MAVERICK

By Ramon E. Parkos, Sr., METCA #149

I have had some inquiries about the Prairieville (Minnesota) maverick 'Gingham Inn.' The town or area is no longer listed on the map but I believe that it was years ago. This token was issued by a tavern or speakeasy located 5 miles east of Faribault, Minnesota between Faribault and Kenyon on Rt. #60. It was just a curve in the road called Prairieville by local residents with the Gingham Inn being its only asset (???). This was a pretty rough spot which kept the Sheriff's office busy especially on Friday and Saturday nights. I moved to Pennsylvania 25 years ago and don't know if the Gingham Inn is in business any longer. It was known as the 'Iron Kettle' in the early 30's and was as well known for trouble under that name as it was under its new name of 'Gingham Inn' (named in the late 30's or early 40's.) This place really flourished during World War II as it didn't ask too many questions regarding age or closing time. I was happy to receive this token from Dave Swenson, METCA #148, as I too spent some hours in the establishment in 1941-1942.

WINE ANYONE

those amusement company tokens and send them to Don Finch. Don will pay
$2.00 for any company you send him which is not on the above list. Now Don needs only one from each company and he will return any duplicates at his own expense. Maverick tokens are welcome, so send them."

Next I would employ President Richard Nixon to say, "Now I want to make this perfectly clear! Don't send Don any tokens which do not say company, or parlor(s), or Corp., or Xchange, or Enterprise(s), or Arcade.
A nice loop hole to this statement is that arcade tokens need only say arcade."

SUSPECT FANTASY TOKENS

The five tokens shown on the cover, page 89, were purchased at a mid-west gun show. The buyer brought them to the attention of a reputable Coin and Americana dealer who then sent them on to Chriss Christiansen, METCA #61, for attribution.

All are slick metal, uniface pieces and in Mr. Christiansen's opinion, are newly-made fantasy tokens. A note of caution to all collectors: there are many more different styles of the same type reaching the token market.

THE GINGHAM INN REVISITED

By Calvin C. Woods, METCA #86

Mr. Parkos' article on the Gingham Inn at Prairieville, Minnesota which appeared in the July, 1973 issue of TRADE TOKEN TOPICS was received with great interest. My encounter with this old road house and its tokens began in 1967 when I was given a box of tokens by a resident of Faribault, Minnesota. Among other tokens in the box were five varieties from the Gingham Inn. It took me some months of research to discover the location of Prairieville, and it was not until a year later that I was able to obtain a more complete story on the tavern.

Some of the tokens read 'Jens Says It's Good For 5¢ In Trade.' Who was Jens? I had to know. In March of 1968 I was on a token-hunting trip and happened into the Faribault area once again. As I drove east on Highway 60 I watched for tell-tale signs of either Prairieville or the Gingham Inn. Soon I spotted a church that had the word 'Prairieville' in its name. Stopping at a nearby farmhouse I was directed to the home of Mr. Jens Naseth, the owner of the Gingham Inn. As we sat in Mr. Naseth's living room, he pointed to a tumble-down wooden structure across the highway from his home. It might have been a machinery shed or a shelter for farm animals, but it was the old Gingham Inn, unused since 1950. He explained that the Gingham Inn operated from 1935 until 1950. While he was the owner of the building, he leased it to a group of Faribault businessmen, who in turn retained him as manager of the club.

All of the tokens were used for slot machines and other forms of gaming in the club. Their use was discontinued in January of 1947, the month that the newly-elected Governor Luther Youngdahl made it his first act of office to stamp out gambling of all sorts in the State of Minnesota. They were all 21 mm, round, plated brass. Three varieties are 'Mavericks' in that they do not mention Minnesota. Thus types 1, 2 and 3 are all 'Good for 5¢ in Trade,' and 'Jens Says It's' on type 2 and 3. Types 4 and 5 have no denomination shown, and on type 4, both JENS and PRAIRIEVILLE are misspelled. Mr. Gerald Johnson has misattributed a type 2 or 3 variety to Wisconsin, in his catalogue 'Trade Tokens of Wisconsin.'

Prairieville has been around for a long time. It appears on a Minnesota map dated 1869 and while it does not appear on the official Minnesota map, I spotted it on a recent issue of a Minnesota road map by Shell Oil Co. Without rail service it was never more than a cross-roads hamlet, and there is not even a roadside sign on Highway 60 to tell you that you have passed through this tiny place. In another generation, perhaps the Gingham Inn tokens will be all that is left to tell us that Prairieville once existed some five miles east of Faribault.

CLEMENS HODES' SALOON

This photograph of Clemens Hodes' saloon in Eugene, Oregon is a follow-up on the C. Hodes token pictured on page 77 of the July, 1973 issue of TRADE TOKEN TOPICS. The photo of Mr. Hodes' saloon, with Mr. Hodes himself standing in the doorway of his establishment, was sent to us by George Lydick, METCA #163, of Swisshome, Oregon who has a collection of over 200 Saloon pictures. The writing on the face of the building reads, to the left of the entrance, 'Clem. Hodes, Fine Wines, Liquors & Cigars' and to the right of the entrance, 'Clem. Hodes, Saloon 5¢.' The building was erected in 1878 as a saloon for Mr. Hodes on Willamette St. between 8th and 9th. Mr. Lydick sent us some bits of local Eugene history about Clemens Hodes along with an excerpt from the EUGENE MORNING REGISTER of March 20, 1896 which offered these interesting words of advice:

'You would not knowingly swallow poison. When you drink poor whisky you poison blood, body and brain. Besides you don't enjoy the drink. Buy good whisky. There's comfort, health and enjoyment in it. If over-worked; worried or run down, you need a warming soothing tonic. Nothing like good whisky. It aids digestion, makes flesh and pleasantly invigorates the system. Good whisky does this mind you. Poor whisky irritates the stomach, inflames the tissues and poisons the blood. You can't afford to run risks; get the best, it pays. Physicians drink and recommend I. W. Harper's Nelson County, Ky. Whisky. Sold by C. Hodes, Eugene, Oregon.'

THE TOKEN & MEDAL JAMBOREE - A REPORT

by DUANE H. FEISEL

Judging from the enthusiastic comments of those who were there, the first National Token, Medal and Exonumia Collectors Jamboree has to be rated as a great success. Held March 16 to 18, 1973, at the San Jose (California) Hyatt House, the event had twenty bourse dealers in exonumia items. Almost one hundred collectors signed up for the full Jamboree, and many others came in for the day. The success of this show prompts the planning for a second which will be held March 22 to 24, 1974, at the brand new Le Baron Hotel, San Jose, California. Featuring outstanding convention facilities, the Le Baron will first open in October 1973.

Many of the bourse dealers arrived Thursday evening to set up their tables. Although the Thursday evening activities were restricted to dealings between the bourse dealers, a number of collectors also appeared with the hopes of getting an early start. Collectors arrived early on Friday morning, and by the 10 o'clock opening time there was a long line of eager buyers. Once the doors opened, there was a rush to the bourse tables and the aisles were jammed quickly. This sort of activity continued all day Friday and most of Saturday and Sunday.

Many collectors took advantage of the availability of a collectors' social room which was a place where collectors could get together to talk, swap, buy and sell on an individual basis.

Housed in the same room as the bourse, a number of outstanding exhibits of rare and unusual exonumia material were available for viewing. A featured exhibit was the collection of over 250 credit cards obtained by Walter Cavanagh, Mountain View, California; this collection is permanently displayed at the Ripley's Believe It or Not Museum in San Francisco. Unusual depression scrip was shown by Verner J. Anderson, Roseburg, Oregon. Pocket mirrors, both advertising and "good for," formed the display by Chriss Christiansen, Cupertino, California. Attracting interest was the award winning exhibit of sales tax tokens by Ray Erkson, Santa Clara, California. Don Finch, Visalia, California, showed lucky pennies and souvenirs featuring the American Indian. Cranking out elongated cents for Jamboree attendees was the old elongated cent rolling machine shown by Dale Noll, Sunnyvale, California. Several frames of varied exonumia items comprised the unusual display by Ed Saunders, Portland, Oregon. A fine representation of OPA and foreign ration materials was shown by Viola Thomas, Sacramento, California; Mrs. Thomas and her husband, Charles, spent many hours at the display to provide information on it and the Society of Ration Token Collectors to interested parties. Each of the exhibitors received a special striking of the Jamboree banquet token in sterling silver.

Several innovative special exhibits were arranged. The first of these was an exonumia library which had many of the currently available token and medal publications contributed by authors and publishers. The library was augmented by items from private libraries. The contributed material was described in a leaflet distributed at the Jamboree. During most of the Jamboree there was one or more persons going through the library items.

Greeting Paul Hamm, San Diego, California, at the registration desk are a San Jose Chamber of Commerce representative and Duane H. Feisel, general chairman of the Jamboree,

A second special exhibit showed contemporary medal art; most of the items displayed were contributed to the Jamboree and were given as gifts at the banquet. A listing of the firms and individuals making these beautiful pieces available was contained in the program. Sales and promotional literature was available for most of the items for those interested.

Finally, there was a special display of all the exnumia items issued in conjunction with the Jamboree. These included a set of three trade tokens valid with the bourse dealers present, the token used as a ticket for the banquet, elongated cents issued by The Elongated Collectors, Paul Koppenhaver (a good for elongated cent!), and Danny B. Crabb, hand out tokens given by C. Meccarello, Chriss Christiansen, Duane Feisel and Sambo's Restaurants, a set of ribbons for the Jamboree, and a PNC cover prepared by Dottie Dow. The latter item was presented to Duane Feisel at the Saturday evening banquet--the entire PNC project was kept a secret until that time. A limited number of covers containing the three bourse trade tokens were canceled on March 16, the opening day of the Jamboree.

One large table in the bourse room was devoted to literature and membership information made available by a number of exnumia organizations. Sample copies and reference copies of club publications were available for examination.

During the course of the Jamboree, membership meetings were scheduled by the Society of Ration Token Collectors, the Civil War Token Society, the California-Nevada Token Society, the Merchant Token Collectors Association, the American Tax Token Society and the Bay Area Token Society. These meetings were usually well attended although in many cases it proved difficult to entice members to leave the bourse tables! The panel sessions on Cataloguing, Mavericks and Fakes, Fantasies and Frauds were attended by interested parties; the sessions were informally conducted with considerable information being exchanged.

The Friday evening auction of exnumia items played to an overflow crowd. Conducted by Paul L. Koppenhaver of the Coin Haven, Van Nuys, California, the auction featured many outstanding Washington medals. The highlight of the auction was a mail bid of $1425.00 on a silver example of the medal for the William McKinley second inauguration; it is understood that the auctioneer was authorized to go considerably higher by the mail bidder. The tokens in the auction--trade, transportation and Civil War--brought uniformly high prices. It is understood that in the auction at the 1974 NTM&ECJ, to be conducted again by Koppenhaver, rare trade tokens will be featured.

On Saturday evening preceding the banquet, a Jamboree photograph was made. Photographers recorded many of the events and personalities during the course of the Jamboree. Many of the photographs were placed on sale.

The banquet on Saturday evening featured a gourmet meal served buffet style--there were many selections available from a variety of tasty and unusual dishes. The program for the banquet was quite informal with the main item the awarding of door prizes consisting of many of the books and other publications and the medals contributed for the special displays.

It was during the banquet that the value of an alert security force was demonstrated. Shortly after the banquet was scheduled to begin, two of the three security guards on duty on a 24 hour basis left the bourse room to partake of the banquet fare. Within minutes, an attempt was made to enter the bourse room by several individuals. Apparently, one of these persons had access to a door key which was used to open the previously locked door. Fortunately, the guard on duty was able to turn away these persons. Interestingly, on Saturday afternoon the security force paid special attention to two suspicious characters who were there apparently to "case" the bourse room; one of these persons was among the group attempting entry on Saturday evening. Although no formal action was taken, the identity of some of these persons was reported to the San Jose police department.

The presence of the security force in the bourse room undoubtedly helped in reducing losses, although one dealer with a double table reported that a number of items had been taken from his tables without payment. In my own case, I lost two tokens to a light-fingered thief--the envelopes housing these tokens appeared empty in a later check. Lost were The Club Saloon, J.K. Gow, Woodburn, Ore., 5¢ and Jake's Place, Stanford, Mont., 25¢. Since I was involved so much in the Jamboree activities, I really had very little time to spend on the bourse floor itself. My tokens were shown to only about half a dozen people, so it was relatively easy to deduce who the thief might have been. My suspicions have been confirmed several times over by other collectors who have also suffered sneak thefts after being visited by this misguided collector. Because of his wide activities, his identity is known by a number of collectors. If this person were to try to redeem himself, he might start by returning "borrowed" items to the rightful owners accompanied by a note of apology and a promise to stop "borrowing."

Business continued at the bourse tables right up to the closing time on Sunday afternoon. Many favorable comments were given by collectors and dealers, each one accompanied by a promise to return for another Jamboree.

Scheduled for March 22 to 24, 1974, the next TM&ECJ will be held at the brand new Le Baron Hotel, opening October 1973 in San Jose, California. The bourse room will be larger so that up to forty dealers can be accommodated at larger tables with wider aisles between tables. Other special facilities will add to the Jamboree. Many of the innovations introduced in 1973 will be continued in 1974. Exonumia organizations are invited to provide special displays, to make available sample copies of publications, to circulate membership information and to hold membership meetings. The extremely popular exonumia library display will be expanded by the participation of new authors, publishers and distributors; there is no better advertisement for a publication than personal examination. Similarly, the opportunity to view first hand the wide selection of contemporary medals will be continued and expanded. Information on any aspect of the 1974 Jamboree can be obtained from Duane Feisel, P.O. Box 11661, Palo Alto, CA 94306.

1973 - ISSUE 5

= MAVERICK TOKEN COMMENTS =

Heading up the listing this month is a maverick "good for" mirror. Trade mirrors are scarce items which are popularly collected, especially here in the west. I have a small collection of them, and am engaged in photographing all "good for" mirrors from any state with the ultimate aim of producing a catalogue of these interesting items. Any help on listings will be appreciated. Incidentally, of all the "good for" mirrors I have seen so far, this is the first maverick! Most of the "good for" or trade mirrors have a street address in addition to the city and state.

= ATTRIBUTIONS =

#832 LOG CABIN BAKERY, EUREKA, CAL.

Harold L. Lesser points out that this token was listed in Album's Catalogue of California Trade Tokens as Hum 25 BO. This attribution is somewhat embarrassing to me since I own the token, have a large collection of California trade tokens, and use the Album catalogue all the time!

#836 L.R.O. (LINDSAY RIPE OLIVE), LINDSAY, CAL.

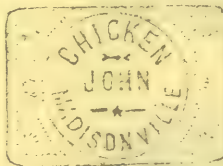

This token struck a bell with me when it was first reported, and I stumbled onto the attribution while going through Steve Album's card catalogue of California trade tokens. This company is still in business; the tokens were used some years ago.

ROUND AND ROUND SHE GOES AND WHERE SHE STOPS, NOBODY KNOWS

By J. W. Baum, METCA #289

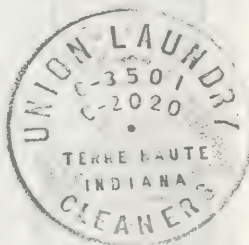

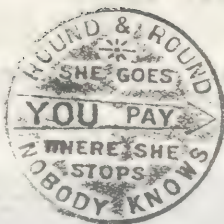

A well-known early radio show announcer played an indirect part in the development of the spinner token. Major Edward Bowes always began his Original Amateur Hour with the phrase 'Around and around she goes and where she stops, nobody knows.' This American expression evolved from the business cry of the gold camp gambling wheel operators of the early West. The new medium of radio had done what the gambling wheel operators and traveling carnival concessionaires had failed to do: gave our American language a new national slogan. In the mid 1930's along with the rise in popularity of the Major Bowes Original Amateur Hour, the spinner token also came into prominence. Most of these earlier spinners carried the notation, 'Round and round she goes, and where she stops, nobody knows.'

The spinner is actually a little gambling wheel in itself. The center of one side of the token has a little raised dot on which the token spins. Usually this raised dot is a part of the overall design; other times it may appear as just an added embellishment to the design. The other side of the token has a pointing device (usually an arrow) pointing to one outside edge point on the piece. The object is to spin the token and the person at whom the arrow is pointing when it stops, loses, more or less a new way to play heads-tails, or odd man out.

The brewing and distilling industries were among the first to use the spinners. Groups were always gathering, and the spinner would decide who would buy the drinks. There was also plenty of space for the advertising and if the spinners were used as intended, the advertising would be seen at the right place and at the right time. The spinner token did such a good job of advertising its product that at least one brewery, 'Storz Beer,' had two issues of advertising spinner tokens.

With the demise of the radio version of the Original Amateur Hour, the old slogan 'Round and round she goes and where she stops, nobody knows' seems to have faded even though Ted Mack continued using it on the TV show of the same name. Groucho Marx also used the expression on his TV show of the 1950's. For the manufacturers of the spinner type pieces, business was still good enough for them to modernize the designs and carry stock dies. Most modern spinners still carry an arrow device of some sort, but in place of the slogan, they carry the simple notation, 'You Pay,' or once in a while a piece will state 'You Win.' In the case of some of the modern spinners that were struck using a custom-cut die in place of a stock die, it is sometimes not as evident that they are spinners as witnessed by the 1955 pieces issued by Hotpoint and General Motors.

SUSPECT FANTASY TOKEN

The pictured token was reported to us by Chriss Christiansen, METCA #61, as being a suspected fantasy token. It is brass, 26 mm, tumbled and stained for age.

MORE COLORADO FAKES

By Lee Nott, METCA #6

In the May, 1971 issue of TRADE TOKEN TOPICS, Jim Andrews, METCA #99, provided an excellent article on the fakes and reproductions of tokens from Colorado. I am writing now to offer some information on a new series of Colorado reproductions.

METCA member, Sam Morrison, #367, reported three of the following items to me. This series includes reproductions from the ROMA HOTEL, Carlo Girardi, Prop. - 12½¢ - scalloped; BUSY CORNER PHARMACY - 25¢ - round; and SMITHY'S BOWLING BILLIARDS, Ouray, Colo. - round. These three are cast in aluminum. Also in the new series are the ASSEMBLY CLUB, Red Mountain, Colorado - round and the CAMP BIRD STORE - 10¢ round. The last two are struck in brass.

Although none of these reproductions are offered as originals, someone wishing to deceive an 'unknowing' collector could age them in such a manner so as to make them appear old and worn. I would suggest that if anyone is offered a token from any of the businesses listed above, he should inspect it before completing any trade or purchase.

SOFT SOAP AND CAKE, FLAKE, CHIP AND GRANULATED SOAP

By J. W. Baum, METCA #289

Ben Hur wasn't just an ancient chariot driver, 'Cheerio' wasn't always just some British greeting, and John D., Jr. was something other than a Rockefeller. Believe it or not, at one time or other these were all soap brand names. At least one was a best seller. The others didn't seem to make it and none of the above brand names have survived the competition.

In the 1920's before Madison Avenue took over their advertising duties, the soap manufacturers were left to their own devices to drum up business and grab the consumers' dollars. For some reason this led to a lack of originality and a great deal of copy-cat advertising. Every manufacturer claimed that his soap was the best. The new medium of radio had so many soap company-sponsored daytime dramas that all such shows were dubbed 'Soap Operas.' The name has stuck even to today's TV daytime shows.

In the mid 1920's the giant soap companies started issuing tokens. At first these tokens were good for a free cake or package of the product. Very soon, however, a new idea in trade tokens developed. Conditions were attached to the token that amounted to giving the consumer a discount. A part of the purchase price had to be paid for the product, or a free cake or package of the product was given with a larger purchase of the same or another named product. Sometimes only one trade name was used and a person had to buy one, two, or three cakes of soap to get a free cake. Other times two trade names were used on the same token, and a purchase of a cake or package of a named product would entitle the buyer to a free stated amount of the other soap. Some companies used a token giving a free cake of their known brand name with the purchase of a package of a new brand that they were introducing. Other companies used their hand or toilet soap to sell their laundry soap, or vice versa. Cake soap wouldn't work in the new electric washing machines unless it was sliced into little chips. More tokens were issued selling chip and granulated washing machine soaps.

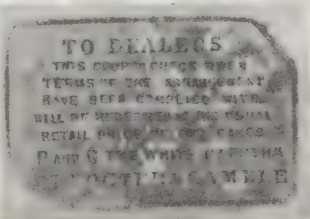

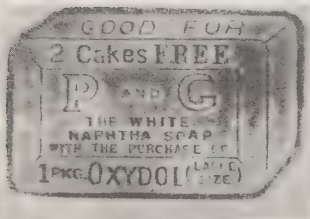

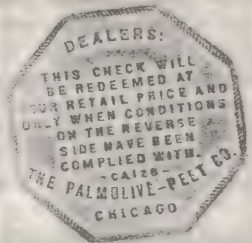

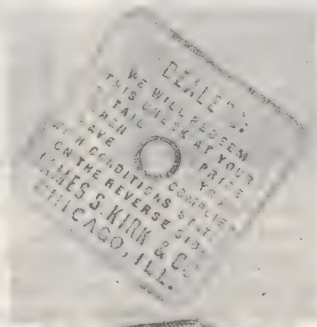

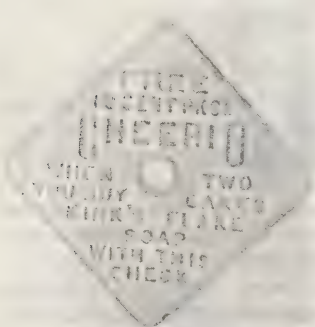

In this decade of 1925-1935 the soap tokens issued by the major United States soap companies circulated perhaps more world wide than any other type of merchant token. Tokens were issued not only for circulation in the United States, but also Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. Several issues were struck in the French language for issue in French Canada, and at least one store card was struck in Spanish for issue in Mexico. Earlier, in the 1850-1910 period, the soap manufacturers of this era had issued numismatic type advertising pieces. These early pieces carried no notation of a stated worth and were used for advertising only. Besides the more familiar store cards, shell mirror cards, coins counterstamped with soap trade names, and fantasies of paper money were also used as soap advertising pieces.

This writer is currently cataloging these soap pieces, and would appreciate receiving embossings, rubbings or full descriptions of any type numismatic material (store cards, merchant tokens, counterstamped coins, encased or elongated coins, fantasy banknotes or any other) related to soap.

CLEANING TOKENS

By George Gould, METCA #22

Many collectors shudder at the thought of cleaning anything resembling a coin. In numismatic circles it is verboten to clean almost any coin, because most neophytes assume a bright shiny worn coin cleaned with Boraxo or a wire brush is prettier and more valuable than a dark dirty one. There are however right and wrong ways to clean tokens.

Many tokens are acquired with either dirt or a green waxy material in and between the letters of the wording. Most of this can be removed without changing the basic appearance or color of the piece by following a few simple steps.

First, find a discarded soft toothbrush, wet the token with a little water and rub a little soap on it. Any non-abrasive soap such as Ivory or Dial will do. Using a circular motion, then back and forth, clean the token gently, keeping a watery-foam consistency, not paste. Rinse and repeat on both sides.

Next, place the wet token between two folds of a towel and using both thumbs, press against the towel hard on both sides of the token, rotating the thumbs in opposite directions. If you don't think this removes more dirt, check the towel. A white towel shows results better.

Finally, dab a little olive or mineral oil on the token, rub it around and wipe most of it off. You should find that your tokens have sharper lettering, as well as a better all-round appearance. Practice with a couple of mavericks will make you a professional token-cleaner in no time at all. One more thing: aluminum tokens don't really need the olive oil treatment from an appearance standpoint, but it does help preserve the metal.

For those of you who have dirty fibre tokens, you had better settle for cleaning them with a toothpick only. Good luck!

GOOD LUCK TOKENS

By J. W. Baum, METCA #289

Some people seem to be born lucky, others have to work at it. Of course, there may be something in the old theory that luck should be spelled either s-w-e-a-t, w-o-r-k or t-o-i-l. There are those who think luck is helped by carrying a talisman, amulet or good luck charm. This practice has indeed been lucky for the exonumist. Over the years and especially in the twentieth century, a great number of numismatic-type lucky pieces has been struck and distributed.

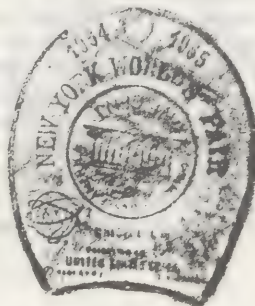

These days a person is considered lucky if he has money. The encased coin is a piece that follows this line of logic. Testifying to this is the encased cent (fig. #1) inscribed simply, lucky penny. To help luck along a little, the piece has a total of six four-leaf clovers on it. Another encasement (fig. #2) which should be luckier than ever is made in the shape of a lucky horseshoe. This piece is stamped: 1964 1965/ New York World's Fair/(reverse of Lincoln Memorial cent)/(picture of Unisphere) Unisphere ® (2 children with balloons)/Presented by USS United States Steel/©1961 NYWF ©1962 NYWF. The reverse of the piece has lots of luck on it. Around the outside edge that is stamped to appear as a horseshoe are the words: Keep me and (four leaf clover) never go broke. In the center is a lucky wishbone which has the obverse of a 1964 Lincoln cent in its center. At the bottom are the words: I bring/ good luck.

FIG 5

Perhaps the champion piece in number of good luck charms shown is a piece sold by concessionaires at the 1933 Chicago Century of Progress World's Fair. The piece is cataloged as CP#A7 (fig. #3). The obverse shows a turbaned Near East-type mystic peering into a crystal ball upon which a swastika is shown. Underneath are the words: Good luck will/ accompany the/ bearer. The reverse of this 32 mm bronze piece has at the bottom an eye with the words: The all seeing eye protects you from evil. Eight rays radiating from the eye to the outer edge of the piece separate a swastika, a heart-shaped lock with key, a four-leaf clover, an elephant, horseshoe, rabbit's foot and a wishbone.

A close second to this piece is a round, brass 31 mm store card. The obverse of the piece (fig. #4) reads: Your good health/Clipper/Ale/brewed by Harvard/Harvard Brewing Co. Lowell, Mass. The reverse is loaded with luck. Separated by 5-point stars, the outer edge has the words: Success, Health, Wealth, Love and Romance. In the center are the words: Good/Luck surrounded by a four-leaf clover, wishbone, doll with a good-luck belly-button to rub, rabbit's foot, horseshoe, a bird on a branch and a bag of money. Another piece (fig. #5) that although doesn't state itself as being lucky, certainly implies it by its design. Round, brass and a large 44½ mm, the obverse has at the top: Minute Men of St. Louis. Underneath is the Minute Man within a wreath. The reverse reads, around the outside edge: Awarded by the Cyrus Crane Willmore Organization, Inc. In the center is a large swastika with each of the four openings holding a good luck emblem. They are a horseshoe, four-leaf clover, wishbone and a design of a rectangle and triangle connected above a half circle and a symbol #.

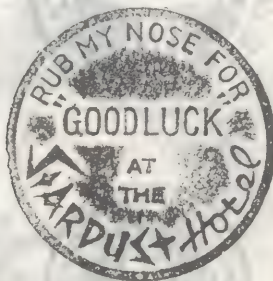

The line of thought that luck doesn't just come, but that some performance must be done before luck can be expected is also shown on some types of luck exonumia. The easiest performance is suggested by the piece (fig. #6) which shows the Pony Express scene and reads: Changing Ponies/Relay Station. (This obverse has been struck with several reverse dies.) The reverse of the piece states: Good luck pocket piece/(sun and mountains)/Prosperity/(cornucopia full of fruit and vegetables)/Keep Me and Prosper. This piece is of white metal and 31½ mm in diameter. Another piece which requires a little more performance than just the keeping is fig. #7. The obverse is in deep relief and has as its center theme a South Pacific Tiki-type head. To the left reads: Las Vegas, Nev. To the right are the words: Aku/Aku. The reverse of this brass plated white metal card reads: Rub my nose for/ 'Good Luck' /at/the/Star-dust Hotel. The token is 38 mm in diameter.

The third piece that requires a performance for good luck makes a person work a little harder, but not too hard. This 40 mm aluminum store card (fig. #8) reads: The International House of Pancakes/Shrove/Tuesday/February/27/1968. The reverse states: Rub me twice each morning/lucky/pancake/pocket/piece. Here it is interesting to note that although the manufacturer, Rayco Ltd. of Chicago, makes lucky pieces, they had a little bad luck with this order. Two hundred thousand of these were struck and distributed before it was discovered that Shrove Tuesday was misspelled with a U in Shrove. Oh well, everybody can't be lucky!

The San Diego Chamber of Commerce urges you to be lucky with a 28 mm aluminum piece that reads: America's only international playground/(woman with a man holding a guitar.) The reverse says: Year-round convention city/Be Lucky/San Diego/next/average temp. 72°. (fig. #9)

BLACKDUCK, MINNESOTA

By Charles Robinson, METCA #82

The photograph shown below was made from a postcard in my saloon collection. There is no date on the card but from the condition of the street and the wooden sidewalks, etc., I would hazard a guess that the picture was taken around the turn of the century. Note the beer barrel lying in the gutter. I don't have any saloon tokens to go with the picture as Minnesota saloon tokens are very difficult to obtain. In fact I only know of about 10 to 12 that exist today, and they are in various collectors' hands.

These old saloons certainly don't look like the kind you see in the modern western movie, with swinging doors and saddled horse outside for a quick getaway. If we could see what they must have looked like on the inside, it is doubtful that we would find the old-time saloons either historical or romantic.

THE MINT AT KEWAUNEE

EDITORS' NOTE: We are reproducing this article as it appeared in the March 15, 1965 issue of the Numismatic News. We borrowed the article from the file of Mrs. Keel METCA #80

Ray & Rita Nadreau

A few dozen miles east of Green Bay, on the western shores of Lake Michigan, lies the small community of Kewaunee, Wisconsin. Boasting less than two thousand inhabitants, the town fairly bustles with activity, its main industry centers around a complex of factory buildings that comprise the Leyse (pronounced Lee-see) Aluminum Company.

Perhaps best known for their kitchen utensils and various other domestic products, Leyse Aluminum has, tucked away in a remote corner of one of their factory buildings, a remnant from the United States Mint at Denver. A coining press that still clicks out coins in much the same fashion that it did for the government years ago.

Naturally the coins at Leyse are different, they're advertising pieces, trade checks and lucky coins. This one machine is the story of "The Mint at Kewaunee."

Started in 1903

The Leyse Aluminum Company originally set up shop in 1903 at Two Rivers, Wisconsin under the very original name of The Aluminum Sign Company. This operation was moved to the present location in Kewaunee in 1905 where Albert and Norman Leyse continued to manufacture signs and advertising novelties. One of their innovations in the novelty business was the encased cent which they have been manufacturing continuously since.

The company re-incorporated in 1919 as the Leyse Aluminum Company and it was at that time that Albert and Norman Leyse decided to enter the aluminum cooking utensil field. In 1925 the company added a decorated metals division.

World War II saw the company produce over four million stainless steel mess kits, sweet and bitter memories for many a G.I. Airplane tanks and other aluminum products were also produced for the United States Army during this period.

Following the war, Leyse embarked on a long range expansion program. It is still in progress. Added to the three divisions already in operation, Aluminum Cooking Utensils, Decorated Metals, Advertising Novelties, was a new department Contract Manufacturing, the manufacture of products for other countries.

The manufacture of coins, medals and tokens falls into the Advertising Novelty Division and Mr. E. F. Stika, sales manager of that division was our host on this guided tour through their plant.

Viewing the "Mint"

I guess that the "Lucky Penny" can be considered the mainstay of business at the "mint." The collector is familiar with these pieces which usually encase a new cent in an aluminum enclosure. Most often they are either round or shaped like a horseshoe and bear the time honored promises, "Keep Me and Never Go Broke" or "Keep Me and you will have Good Luck." The reverse side then bears the advertisement of the issuer.

An insertion machine, placing the cent in the aluminum piece is kept in constant operation but the present coin shortage has presented many problems for this manufacturer.

At one time Leyse ordered new cents direct from the Mint to be delivered through the Federal Reserve. Later orders had to be placed through the Federal Reserve Bank in Chicago. As the shortage of cents grew more acute, Leyse was informed it must find new sources and began obtaining them, here and there, from local banks, but they could not meet the need.

In place of a "new" cent in the lucky penny holders, Leyse devised an aluminum plug to substitute. It proved most unpopular and actually cost more than the cent that it replaced.

Today, Leyse buys circulated cents and by a secret process plates them to look like new. This has proved satisfactory and once again lucky cents are distributed at souvenir shops, merchandise shows and coin conventions.

An interesting sidelight is the Treasury Department ruling that in the process of producing lucky cents, should any coins become mutilated they must be disposed of and cannot be returned to circulation or redeemed. Since 1905 bags of such pennies are dumped into nearby Lake Michigan. Perhaps in some future generation scuba divers will discover the "Treasure of the Great Lakes."

Other "Coins"

Leyse Aluminum Company produces advertising coins in two mediums, aluminum and bronze. The aluminum pieces are all produced on the surplus coining press bought from the United States Mint at Denver many years ago.

The bronze pieces, being of a harder base, are stamped on regular stamping presses, the same ones used to pound out pots and pans. Advertising coins fall into many categories. They are used for sales promotions; they are an effective way to remind old customers and new prospects of how many years know-how are behind a business when used in conjunction with an anniversary; as redeemable coins they can be used as trade tokens for stimulating sales of a new product or service or for "sparkling" sales of the old. Trade tokens are used by retail stores, service stations, soft drink bottlers, finance companies, and amusement parks; they are used as Grand Opening and Open House souvenirs and as souvenirs of points of interest. The collecting of these pieces offer a wide variety to the new collector.

Gold Aluminum

All that glitters is not gold . . . though it may be gold colored. Becoming more popular with time is the gold anodized aluminum medallions. The look of gold, copper and other colors can now be permanently imparted to the surface of aluminum coins. In addition, the natural "silver-like" surface of aluminum tokens can be given additional lustre. All of this through what is now known as the "anodizing" process.

Anodizing is an electro-chemical process of treating aluminum to produce a thin film of aluminum oxide on the surface. This film is hard and offers excellent abrasion and corrosion protection to the underlying metal, yet absorbs dyes since it is minutely porous. Color finishes are achieved by dye dipping after anodizing.

The tour through Leyse Aluminum Company proved most enlightening, as well as entertaining. It proved the "old adage—numismatic adventure is where you find it — to be so true. Really, one needn't go any farther than his own backyard to find fortune in his hobby.

Three steps in the production of encased cents: first the aluminum holder is stamped out, then the coin is forced into place and finally, with the coin already encased, the design or advertisement is stamped on the enclosure.

1973 - ISSUE 6

Please note my new address as given above. I still have my old post office box and will keep it for some time, but I want to phase it out gradually.

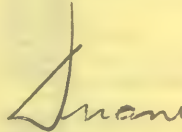

Several months ago a friend asked me to start working for him on a temporary basis to help out on a rush program. He asked one day and I started the next, so it left no time to wind down some of the projects and other token matters with which I am involved. As a consequence, some things had to be put aside as I found my time for tokens reduced by about 50 hours a week! Now the job is completed and I am back "on vacation" again, so I am trying to tackle the many things that had accumulated. Needless to say, my correspondence is a shambles, but I will do my best to get that into shape very soon.

One of my projects has involved the new catalogue of Illinois trade tokens by Ore H. Vacketta. I have done some editing and then prepared the camera-ready pages for the printers. The page preparation has just been completed, and the book will be in the hands of the printers by the time you receive this. The book should be ready in a few months unless the paper shortage interferes. As soon as a price can be set, the new catalogue will be advertised in the METCA Trade Token Topics.

A feature of the Illinois catalogue is an extensive index of all the maverick tokens. Chriss Christiansen prepared the card file of the maverick tokens which meant a lot of time and careful attention. Since just about every collector has at least a few maverick tokens from Illinois, it seems like this index should be very useful to all METCA members. Thus, beginning with this issue we will be running the index in serial form. Ray has agreed to double the size of this maverick section, so the complete index will take three issues. If there is enough interest in this sort of thing, perhaps we can run the index of California maverick tokens as well in the future.

I have on hand a number of maverick token rubbings and descriptions, plus a few attributions from recent listings. By the time of the next issue I should have sorted through my mail and then I will provide the recent attributions.

If you have any comments on the index of Illinois mavericks, I will be interested in them.

BEST WISHES FOR THE HOLIDAY SEASON AND FOR THE NEW YEAR AHEAD!

- IDENTIFICATION KEY -

This listing enables one to attribute Illinois trade tokens which do not carry in their inscription a full attribution to Illinois. To provide more usefulness, some tokens may be listed several times--under the business name, under a possible variation of the business name, and under the proprietor(s)' name(s).

Tokens from Chicago which have "Chicago" in the inscription but not "Illinois," are not included in this listing. However, other tokens from other places which carry the name of the place in the inscription, but not "Illinois" (or some variation of the name of the state) are listed.

Identifications which involve a number as the first element of the identifying phrase are listed at the end of the alphabetical listing.
